

Properties in red have racially restrictive covenants, according to research by the University of Minnesota's Mapping Prejudice project.